BOOK DESCRIPTION

A desperate student. A blind mafia heir. One ruthless deal in Russia could cost them everything.

Seraphina Rosewood is broke and unsure of her future. Arriving in Moscow from Texas with a mysterious scholarship, the penniless young woman is weighed down by a sense of duty to support her mother. But when a job ad leads her to a snowbound mansion, she steps straight into the path of a man whose world is built on danger and control.

Judas Romanovski is untouchable. From the moment the little bird applying for the caretaker position crosses his threshold, the blind mafia heir senses her fire and the quiet ache she tries to hide. And determined to make her a part of his orbit, he turns the interview into a ruthless power play that threatens to consume them both.

Even as Seraphina can’t help but be captivated by Judas’s terrifying intensity and the fragile tenderness hidden beneath his darkness, she might be nothing more than a pawn in his schemes. Drawn to the only woman who’s ever made him feel human, Judas fears his vicious world and his hunger could destroy her bright soul.

Will they survive the violence closing in on them and have a love fierce enough to defy the underworld?

Venomous Desires is the gripping first book in the Blind Desires mafia romance series. If you enjoy forced proximity, dangerous billionaire antiheroes, and slow-burn obsession, then you'll love Luna Sads' dark, intoxicating tale.
