BOOK DESCRIPTION

Shylo Jennings arrives in Hazard Falls with a secret and a purpose. She's determined to claim what's rightfully hers, then leave town and put the past behind her. Falling for the rugged handyman at the Red River Ranch was never part of the plan.

Seth Parker has spent years avoiding serious relationships. Love leads to commitment, commitment leads to marriage, and marriage has never been part of his plan. But the more time he spends with Shylo, the harder it becomes to remember why he ever wanted to stay single.

But when Shylo's secret is finally revealed, the shocking truth rocks the Triple-R and leaves Seth questioning everything they shared. Before either of them can come to terms with the fallout, the past comes looking for Shylo, placing everyone she has come to care about in jeopardy.

With loyalties tested and hearts on the line, Seth and Shylo must decide whether the bridge between them has been burned forever... or whether love and forgiveness are strong enough to withstand the flames.
