BOOK DESCRIPTION

Genevieve Devereaux.

Reid Kaufman.

The family castaway, the owner of Silicon Valley, and the man of my best dreams and worst nightmares.

I had grown too close to my fiancé's brother. So close I had to push him away to save my relationship and reputation.

I held an unforgivable secret from him and my family.

If it got out now while things were finally settling, I'd be ruined.

And to teach me a lesson, it seems Reid is fine with that.

But now that I've hurt him, I want to make things right.

I want to earn his forgiveness.

Even if it tears me apart.

Reid Kaufman.

Genevieve Devereaux.

My younger brother's soon-to-be wife, the daughter-in-law my parents dreamed of, and a liar.

The woman I once loved is now the woman I despise and loathe.

She's kept secrets. Unforgivable, inexcusable secrets.

I've returned to learn the truth about them. About us.

And now that she wants me to forgive her, I get to take my revenge, to reclaim what was mine.

If she wants my forgiveness... she'll have to do more than just earn it.

I'll make her beg for it.

After I've taken back what's mine, I won't be so willing to let her go even when we're faced with the impossible.

When trust is broken, loyalties are tested, and buried secrets are revealed, navigating the aftermath of it all will require discretion at its finest.
