Fall Line

by Jodi Payne, BA Tortuga

BOOK DESCRIPTION

When Easton Green meets his old college flame while in line to register his daughter for snowboarding camp, he can't believe his eyes. Jared's hair is shorter, his smile lines are deeper, and he's as handsome as he ever was. But more surprising is that Jared is in line for the same reason –to register his own daughter for camp.

Jared Faulkner's life has changed dramatically since he saw Easton last, but one thing has stayed the same. They have undeniable chemistry and Jared feels it from the moment they meet again. Easton is still a ranch guy, still the busiest man Jared has ever met, but when their daughters become fast friends, Jared wonders if second chances can really happen.

The two of them have to navigate wet snowboarding gear, search and rescue dogs, tons of driving back and forth, and more than one snowstorm, but they're working their way toward a blended family. Do they have more than the proverbial snowball's chance in hell?

Fall Line is an opposites attract, second chance romance featuring a Colorado cowboy running a small ranch alone, a marketing manager with money but no roots, and their two young daughters whose very existence reminds them that love can be simpler than it seems.
