BOOK DESCRIPTION

"Awkwardly hilarious..." He's incognito. She's in hiding. Neither is telling the whole truth.

Maddox McGuiness. He's the black sheep billionaire with a talent for bad press.

Delaney Sinclair. She's the family fugitive with a talent for trouble.

When Delaney drags her busted suitcase through downtown Chicago, the last thing she needs is a collision with a handsome stranger with secrets of his own.

Why was he camped out in her sister's building? And why is his story full of holes? She has absolutely no idea.

Then again, Mister Tall, Dark and Mysterious neglected to mention his full name. Or that he's Chicago's most infamous billionaire. Or that their collision wasn't quite the coincidence she thought.

He doesn't mention a lot of things, which leads Delaney to assume the worst. One disastrous confrontation later, it's over before it's begun.

Or is it?

She's still on his radar. He's now on her bad side. And that unforgettable kiss in Chicago meant absolutely nothing – or at least that's what Delaney keeps telling herself. Except she hasn't stopped thinking about her mystery man ever since.

He's still on her mind. She's still under his skin. And the rumor mill isn't finished yet. When a scandal explodes, they both bolt for the same secluded place – and against all odds, together.

Sparks fly, secrets unravel, and their unfinished business is only getting started. On Mackinac Island, the off-season is anything but quiet.

Each Billionaires on Main Street book features its own swoony happily-ever-after, but for maximum fun (and fewer secrets spoiled), readers may wish to start with No Limos Allowed.

Binge the Complete Series!

From a USA TODAY bestselling author, No Headlines Please is the final book in the complete Billionaires on Main Street trilogy, set on Mackinac Island, where fudge is famous, cars are forbidden, and three billionaire friends are about to bet everything on love. Titles in this series include:

No Limos Allowed, a Small Town Romance (Maisie & Griff). He's not broke. She's not fooled. Let the games begin.

No Backup Plan, a Small Town Billionaire Romance (Tessa & Ryder). She came to disappear. He came to stir things up. Love wasn't part of the plan.

No Headlines Please, a Billionaire Romantic Comedy (Delaney & Maddox). He's incognito. She's in hiding. Neither is telling the whole truth.

Prefer to Listen? To enjoy this romantic comedy with audio, check out the No Headlines Please audiobook, along with the rest of this fun, romantic series featuring three different couples.

If you like witty heroines, laugh-out-loud banter, sizzling chemistry, and small-town romance with secrets, you'll love this addictive series.
