BOOK DESCRIPTION

With time running out and hearts being torn apart across centuries, Angus and Maggie must risk everything to save the woman who brought so many soulmates together – before love itself is lost to the ages ...

A spellbinding time travel romance filled with Highland magic, unforgettable characters, and a heart-stirring battle against fate now featuring a brand new cover

Edna Campbell has spent years weaving a little magic for the lonely hearts who find their way to The Thistle & Hive Inn. With a touch of enchantment and a leap through time, she has united modern-day dreamers with their destined soulmates in the Scottish Highlands of the sixteenth century.

But now Edna is gone.

Kidnapped by a ruthless enemy she never knew existed, she is being held captive by someone determined to destroy everything she has built. As dark magic takes hold, the bonds connecting her couples begin to unravel. Lovers who crossed centuries to be together are torn apart and forced back to their own times—with no guarantee they will ever find their way back to one another.

As chaos spreads across centuries, Angus and Maggie must race against time to uncover the truth behind Edna's disappearance. With every passing day, more hearts are shattered, more destinies rewritten, and the future of The Thistle & Hive Inn hangs in the balance.

Can they break the spell before true love is lost forever, or will a vengeful enemy succeed in tearing apart the happily-ever-afters Edna fought so hard to create?

Perfect for fans of Outlander, time-travel romance, and magical Highland love stories. Filled with beloved tropes including fated mates, second chances, found family, soul-deep romance, and love across time, this enchanting adventure is brimming with mystery, heart, and the kind of magic that changes destinies forever.
