BOOK DESCRIPTION

Reva Reed:

I just wanted to celebrate finishing college and try to dispel some of the anxiety of going home. Instead, I.managed to get drunk and find my childhood crush in a Vegas casino then somehow we ended up in bed together and married.

How is that even possible you ask? Very simple. Too much alcohol. Not to mention the fact that I've been in love with Tom Gardner, my Dad's best friend for so long that I can't look at another man. Which is how come I'm still a virgin.

Now we need to figure out how to get out of this mess. The only option that doesn't get Tom killed by my dad is if we can annul or dissolve this marriage so fast that nobody ever hears about it.

But I don't want to. I want to live in the fantasy a little while longer. I want to pretend that there's a chance that Tom might end up wanting me as much as I want him.

Even if I know it can never be.

Tom Gardner:

I always knew that my carefree lifestyle might catch up with me sooner or later but I never thought I'd wake up in Vegas married to my best friend's daughter. A daughter that I've spent the last few years dodging because when she came home, I couldn't stop looking at all her lush curves and picturing some very dirty things I wanted to do to her.

I'm a dirty old man.

But when we end up married, I finally realize that she wants me as much as I want her and that changes everything. I don't want to lose her. I want to wrap my arms around this angel and claim her as my own.

But if I do that, will Hank ever speak to me again or am I bound to lose the woman I love to keep my best friend?
