BOOK DESCRIPTION

One inventor with eyes on a prestigious prize. One noble longing for adventure. One design that will carry them beyond the horizon.Blaze Levimist dreams of changing the world with his invention of an airship—but first he'll have to get it off the ground. When he fails to land a prestigious job, he decides to craft a prototype in time for the Everend Market's Innovation Awards. Catching feelings for a young noble was not part of the plan.

Durae Navisora is supposed to make a good match at the marriage market, but he wishes for more from life than going from his family's tower into being locked in matrimony. He stumbles across Blaze and his project and is immediately smitten with the creator and his invention. But can he follow his heart? Or will he obey his family's designs for his life?

Marriage Market Misadventures is a light hearted series of queer romances where elves from all over the realm gather at the Everend Midsummer Markets to meet, match, and marry—with plenty of shenanigans along the way!
